RATS STEAL FIVE CASES OF EGGS

Missing eggs from the kitchen by the case, employees of Paradise Inn, Mount Rainier National Park, exonerated themselves by discovering that wood rats had been carrying away and hiding supplies under the hotel floor. More than five cases of eggs were recovered in the catches made by the rats.

One afternoon the freight truck brought an unusually large load of supplies up the mountain preparatory for the ski fete the next day, among them seven cases of eggs.

The next morning when the kitchen help began to assemble the breakfast material more than half the eggs were missing. About half the guests had ham without the customary two eggs. Meantime cases of oranges, strawberries and boxes of crackers showed signs of tampering and the chief steward began investigating.

It was found that wood rats by the hundreds had taken up their abode under the walls of the inn during the severe winter and were consuming as much food from the kitchen as the guests.

ARE THE SEASONS CHANGING?

W. B. Graves, of Hopkinsville, has a freak in the form of a lilac bush that is bearing its second crop of leaves and is blooming for the second time this summer. Recently the bush dropped all its leaves and now has a new suit.

Mr. Graves pulled a bunch of blossoms that were in every way the equal of those which appear at the usual time in the spring.

J. O. Kirk has on his farm on the Grassy Lick pike, near Mt. Sterling, a locust tree in full bloom. The tree is a mass of flowers, much smaller than those of the spring and greatly resembling the bloom of the white lilac.

Apple trees don't always confine their festive raiment to spring, according to Mrs. S. Johnson Stokes, who lives on the Military pike, near Lexington. Mrs. Stokes said that one on her farm blooms every year about this time and is in blossom now.

"If the frost holds off long enough it will bear two crops this year," said Mrs. Stokes.

Horace Greely's "Go West" was not meant for the young Turk.

A woman from Idaho took poison while in Philadelphia, but this was not the reason.

VALUE OF TEAM WORK

Team work is the foundation on which all great things are accomplished and it is the mainspring of all organizations. The town or community in which you live is an organization, the success of which should be one of the foremost thoughts in your daily life. Its success depends upon the support it receives from its citizens and its success means your success. By supporting your local clubs and organizations, who are striving hard to do big things for your community, you will be doing your part in assuring its progress.

MORAL—Team work assures success.

Dr. Owens is a nephew of Mrs. Lou Letton, of Paris, and Mrs. Jennie Letton, of Millersburg. He holds a position as dentist in the Government Hospital, in St. Louis.

ROSE—KIDWELL

—The home of Rev. M. T. Chandler, pastor of the Epworth Methodist church, in Lexington, was the scene of a pretty wedding at seven o'clock Saturday evening, when Rev. Chandler said the ceremony uniting the hands and hearts of Miss Lena Rose, of Paris, and Dr. Louis Edgar Kidwell, of Richmond.

The young people managed to keep their intentions a profound secret, and, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Redmon, Jr., of Paris, motored Saturday to Lexington for the ceremony.

The bride was becomingly attired in a handsome brown suit, with hat to match. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Rose, of Paris, and a sister of Miss Carrie Rose, of Huntington, West Va. She is a graduate of the Paris High School, and was a member of the girls' basketball team of that institution. For two years she has been book-keeper for the Paris branch of the A. F. Wheeler Furniture Company, where she was highly esteemed for her efficiency and ability.

Dr. Kidwell is a former resident of Bourbon county, having for a time resided at Little Rock. He is a son of Rev. and Mrs. E. K. Kidwell, of Ewing. He served overseas during the world war, and on his return to America took up the study of chiropractic, graduating with high honors at the Palmer School of Chiropractic, in Davenport, Iowa. On his return to Kentucky he opened an office at Richmond, where he established a successful practice.

After the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Kidwell left for an Eastern wedding trip. On their return they will be "at home" in Richmond, to their friends.

THE NEWS extends hearty congratulations and best wishes to

A TIP TO PARIS PEOPLE

(Hodgenville Herald)
Dr. G. W. Gaddie says if blackbirds annoy by roosting too close to the house, get a small bell of any kind and tie it in the tree with a string hanging down and when they have alighted ring the bell with a little pull of the string. The fright given them is even greater than that of shooting.

SPOT IS MARKED WHERE INDIANS SPARED TRADER

Wapatomica, the site of an old Indian village, where Simon Girty, the "white savage," rescued Simon Kenton, under sentence of death and about to be burned at the stake by Indians many years ago, has been permanently marked by a flag pole from which floats "Old Glory." Girty, who lived among the Indians practically his entire life, made an eloquent plea to save the life of the white trader, which so impressed the savages that they gave Kenton an escort to Sandusky, from which point he reached the civilization of his day at Detroit, then little more than a fort and trading post.
